Ron: I circulated your explanatory piece on Bay-Delta and then spoke to the officers about doing the peer review. They agreed based on the model we discussed. I asked them to propose names for a review coordinator who would recruit the five peer reviewers and would summarize their comments. I estimate we'd need to provide honoraria of $1,500 for each of the reviewers, $2,000 for the coordinator, $2,000 for my time plus travel expenses to present the report to Babbitt et. al., and overhead for a total estimated cost of $15,000. I have had two names proposed so far for the coordinator. I'll expect to hear from you if this is acceptable and we can negotiate a timetable.

Paul
